

- Hugh McCann Jules Gomes
- Jim Bob unregenerate religionists will do anything to build their own kingdom spreading their lies denying the TRANSCENDENCE OF GOD in creation.
- Communion goes to dogs
- Jonny Watson What about the blessing and dedication of flags...this happens across the country and seems ridiculous? Will you call that practice out????
- Elizabeth Steele What do the Scriptures teach-wish these people would read God's Word and OBEY!!!
- Lorraine Rockburn Pack of nuts sitting listening to two old reprobates .
- Andrew Scott King Crazy at least I'm on meds for that they must be barking mad

This comment goes against our Community Standards on hate speech

See Options

About your comment

Stupid Stupid SINFUL Anglicans they were doing these animal blessings decades ago already that is how evil they are... you talk about a wicked church yes they are right in there with the catholics, they are even giving COMMUNION to dogs... what more evidence do we need that the ANGLICAN church is an apostate PAGAN institution run by satan

News in brief
Metro News - July 26, 2010

Communion goes to dogs

RELIGION. St. Peter's Anglican Church has long been known as an open and inclusive place. So open, it seems, it won't turn anyone away. Not even a dog. That's how a blessed canine ended up receiving communion from interim priest Rev. Marguerite Rea, pictured, during a morning service in June. According to those in attendance at the Carlton Street church, it was a spontaneous gesture. But at least one parishioner saw the act as an affront to the rules and regulations of the Anglican Church. He filed a complaint with the reverend and with the Anglican Diocese of Toronto about the incident — and has since left the church.

TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Montreal Canine communion

Alexa Nadeau receives communion with her dog Christy at Christ's Anglican Church yesterday in Montreal. The parish is running a four-week pilot project that allows worshippers to bring their dogs to services. October 5, 2009

Apostate Anglican Church Is Giving Dogs Communion

News in brief

Metro News - July 26, 2010

Communion goes to dogs

RELIGION. St. Peter's Anglican Church has long been known as an open and inclusive place. So open, it seems, it won't turn anyone away. Not even a dog. That's how a blessed canine ended up receiving communion from interim priest Rev. Marguerite Rea, pictured, during a morning service in June. According to those in attendance at the Carlton Street church, it was a spontaneous gesture. But at least one parishioner saw the act as an affront to the rules and regulations of the Anglican Church. He filed a complaint with the reverend and with the Anglican Diocese of Toronto about the incident — and has since left the church.

TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Montreal Canine communion

Alexa Nadeau receives communion with her dog Christy at Christ's Anglican Church yesterday in Montreal. The parish is running a four-week pilot project that allows worshippers to bring their dogs to services. October 5, 2009

RYAN REMIOWZ/THE CANADIAN PRESS

Animals receive blessings at All Saints' Anglican Church ...

Protestant Revival

22 hrs · 🌐

 Like Page

St Anne's Cathedral favours 'cacophony of deafening barks' over preaching God's Word at ludicrous pet blessing service

Just last week, we commented on a ludicro...

See More

Animal and Pet Service

Organised jointly by
The Anglican Church and The Latin Catholic Church

Wednesday 4 October

In the grounds of
Ayia Kyriaki Church
Kato Paphos

Commencing at 4.00 pm

Bring your animals and pets to this outdoor service of Blessing on the Feast Day of St Francis of Assisi, Patron Saint of Animals.

More information: www.paphosanglicanchurch.org

All creatures are welcome

